Adhesives, Specialty Films & Seam Tape

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Bemis' Global Director of Product Development Is Acknowledged as Industry Expert

DATE: February 3, 2011

Shirley, MA - Amir Nankali is the "Expert" in the "Ask the Expert" feature for the March/April issue of WSA magazine. The subject will be about bonding technology in the apparel industry. Amir has 26 years of industry experience with thermoplastic adhesives and has been with Bemis for the last 18 years. In his career at Bemis, Amir has worked closely with many customers to develop unique solutions that either meet or exceed their requirements. Amir oversees application support and product development at Bemis, he leads a technical team comprised of approximately 30 people across the globe. Amir has been involved with the development and deployment of Sewfree® technology for apparel since its inception in 2001 and fully understands the manufacturing processes and technologies available for bonded garment technology.

Bemis features over 20 different Sewfree® formulations for bonding. Bemis tapes and films have been used in a variety of apparel markets including intimates, performance wear, technical outerwear, swimwear and casual wear.

Questions about bonding technology can be submitted to asktheexpert@sportstextiles.com
